TOOtheZOO is a Dutch furniture label founded in 2012
We're an independent company which designs high end furniture for offices, hotels and public areas.

For the production of our furniture we have several partners who provide us with components.
We choose our partners with care. Quality, social engagement and sustainability are major selection points.

A good quality helps us to make beautiful designs who last long and thereby automatically have less impact on the environment.
During the design of our products we're not only focused on beauty and comfort.
Our furniture has to be easy to disassemble which has several benefits.
Components can be repaired and/or replaced easily. Most of the time this can be done on location.
Being easy to disassemble makes it also easy to split the materials at the end of the lifecycle of our furniture.

It is important to us that our partners are sustainable and socially involved so we share the same responsibility
We see our supplier as a partner and we challenge each other to bring us together to a higher level.
Of course we are very loyal to our partners but also independent so we're always free to examine new techniques / materials .
Since we're always interested in new developments we keep our partners extra alert.

TOOtheZOO is against slavery and human trafficking and defines its basic principles of conducting business in a legal and ethical manner and supporting the right of individuals to freedom from slavery and any form of forced labor in the workplace.
We are transparent about our sources and partners.

Below you find an overview of our main partners and the specific action they've taken (and take) concerning sustainability, social engagement and a solid business management.
